IMPORTANT LESSONS LEARNT FROM THE PATRIARCHAL STORY CIRCLE.

Patriarchal stories are narrations about the early fathers and leaders of God's people in the Bible.

These stories are mainly found in the Old Testament. Main patriarchs included; Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph

The patriarchal stories in the Bible teach many important lessons about family life and parenting. One of the lessons that I have learnt is about forgiveness. Family members made mistakes, but forgiveness helped restore relationships. For example Joseph forgave his brothers that treated him badly hence moving on in life. This means parents should teach their children to forgive and reconcile amongst themselves as they learn to solve problems peacefully and avoid storing anger that may lead to bad decisions one can regret his entire life.

Secondly, another lesson that stands out is respect and love for God. For example, in the story of Abraham; we see how he tried keeping peace by following God's instructions and living according to God's will. He even offered to sacrifice his son Isaac as ordered by God. This shows how obedient he was to God and therefore God blessed him abundantly. This encourages parents to be obedient to Gods commandments in order to acquire blessings.

Lastly, the other lesson I've learnt is the value of love. This is shown in almost all of the patriarchs in the Bible. Love is the source of peace and happiness. For example, Joseph forgave his brothers despite the fact that they mistreated him. He did this out of love. Abraham loved his son Isaac and guided him in faith and obedience to God. Abraham acted as a responsible father by leading his family spiritually and this all because he had love for his family. This shows that parental love includes discipline, guidance, reconciliation and by setting a good example to the children.

In conclusion, the patriarchal story circle provides valuable lessons that help to build a strong and united family. From the above stories, I have learnt the importance and value of love, forgiveness and obedience, when parents put these values into action; they will build a strong foundation of peace amongst their children thus becoming loving and supportive.
